

COMPARING IAQ PROBLEMS AND FINDING SOLUTIONS FOR SIX LOCAL HOMES

Homes on Healthy IAQ Lane are, ironically, having some problems with their indoor air quality.

Discover what symptoms poor indoor air quality can cause, and find out how Healthy Home Energy & Consulting can help solve the problems with Indoor Air Quality solutions!

The Joneses are looking for solutions after noticing increasing energy bills and allergy symptoms that are more severe than usual.

Excess indoor humidity is leading to moisture-related issues in the basement and first story of the Davis home.

The Smith family has noticed unusual eye, nose, and throat itchiness when at home after installation of their new carpet.

SOLUTION

Leaky ductwork lowers the quality of the air from your HVAC system by wasting conditioned air, allowing dust to get past your filter, and costing you more to keep up with your comfort settings. Get back on track with air duct sealing from Healthy Home Energy & Consulting!

SOLUTION

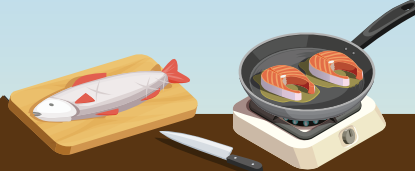

Musty odors, mold, and other bacterial growth can be common and unpleasant if your home has high humidity. Eliminate it swiftly with whole house dehumidification!

SOLUTION

VOCs released by new items (such as carpet) can cause irritation. They can solve these problems with Whole Home Air Purification!

The whole Nguyen family has been struggling with headaches, stuffy noses, and poor sleep for the better part of a month, making it unlikely that the symptoms were caused by an illness.

The Smith family loves cooking fish at home, but they don't like how long it takes to get the smell out of the air. They are wondering if this also means that unhealthy particles and more linger for longer than they should in the air they breathe.

The Carlisle clan's furnace is getting old, and though their carbon monoxide detector has never gone off, they want to be sure that their home's air is healthy and safe.

SOLUTION

When your symptoms point to a specific IAQ but you're not sure what the cause is, Healthy Home Energy & Consulting recommends Indoor Air Quality testing to help resolve the issue ASAP.

SOLUTION

Whole home fresh air systems can help keep your home's air healthy without sacrificing comfort, even in the winter months. Call Healthy Home Energy & Consulting to find out more!

SOLUTION

The Carlisle clan is smart to be careful. Healthy Home Energy & Consulting can help with HVAC maintenance services to keep systems running at peak condition and help catch and repair any deterioration that could cause dangerous carbon monoxide leaks before they happen.
